Special thank you to the host sites and coaches:

- Goodrich High School - Tom Alward

2017 Honorary Membership Awards

Dr. Thomas Kaye
Muskegon Oakridge

Dr. Kaye has been the team physician for over 22 years. During this time period he has been to almost every single game. He has always made time to see the athletes in the early morning or between his patients or on his lunch period. Dr. Kaye has provided his time in giving sports physicals to all our players and has been kind enough to always donated the money back to the football program.

Jim Nichol
Deckerville

Jim Nichol is being nominated for his 30 years of dedication to the Deckerville football program. Jim has taken care of the football field over the last 30 years making it one of the best fields in the state to play on. Jim also takes care of our football field house and weight room. The amazing part is most of this work is done well after normal work hours of the average person. Jim can be found as late as 11:00 p.m. working in the field house or as early as 5:00 a.m. working on the field. We truly appreciate everything Jim does and he is to us more than deserving of this award.

Mark Stuart
Frankfort

Mark Stuart has been the head of our chain gang crew for the last 20 years and counting. He was recruited in 1998 when a new coach was hired in 1998 and has not missed a season or game since. Mark has also taken responsibility of organizing the chain gangs to cover all J.V. and Varsity games. He has done this on his own without ever being recognized for his efforts or drawing attention himself. Mark is very professional and officials have commented on the professionalism of our chain gang every year.

Paul Valentine
Mayville

Paul Valentine started working on the Mayville Football Chain Gang in the fall of 1997. He has been the member since 2001. During his time as a member, he has found others to help work on the chain gang and organized replacements when his regular members could not be there for a night. Our School doesn't have a huge budget, knowing this, Paul has spent his own money to help fix the chains so that they work properly. He has been a dedicated member of our football community and we hope he stays for another 20 years.

Frank Wozny
Walled Lake Western

Frank Wozny has been with the Walled Lake West football program since 2002. He runs a weightlifting event called squat fest with medals for individuals and team. He set up awards for strength training periods. He set up all our club pictures for our program. In addition, he repairs weight equipment, hangs all-state pictures and hangs team pictures in our school. Frank also purchases equipment from his own pocket. His son who graduated in 2004 helps his father and continues to this day keeping it all in the family.

Steve Spicer Team Memorial Leadership Award 2017

The Steve Spicer Memorial Team Leadership Award was inaugurated in 1999 by the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association. The award honors high schools throughout the State of Michigan who exemplify the legacy left to us by Steve Spicer, the former head football coach at Fowler High School who was an outstanding coach, teacher, husband, father, and local leader before his untimely battle with cancer took him from us. Steve, who is a member of our Football Coaches Hall of Fame, had an outstanding coaching record along with capturing a state football championship while at Fowler. More importantly, however, is the fact that he was a great role model for the players he coached and the students he taught.

We proudly present the 2017 recipients of the Steve Spicer Memorial Team Leadership Award:

Brighton High School
Head Coach Brian Lemons

Volunteered nearly 500 hours in 7 different events, which included Senior Serve for Senior citizens and Project Unify that runs athletic competition for special needs students and raising $2,500.00 for local charities.

Jackson High School
Head Coach Scott Farley

Volunteered 435 hours in 4 different service projects and raised $8,500.00 for local charities which included Pink Viking Project supporting families fighting cancer and sponsored a youth football clinic for the local recreation dept.

Romeo High School
Head Coaches Jason Couch & Curt Rienas

Volunteered 436 hours in 5 different service projects and raised $35,000.00 for local charities which included helping run a local soup kitchen, Kids Kicking Cancer Event helping run a community book drive.

Guide to Securing Your Child's Credit Future

It's no secret that the American culture has money problems, but more specifically – credit problems. Consider the following statistics: every three months, 250,000 new families enter into foreclosure, and the average family has $16,000 in credit card debt. One reason American's poor relationship with credit may be that many states' educational systems aren't great at producing financially literate graduates. That's why we created this guide – to empower parents with a helpful step by step process that will provide them the tools they need to ensure that their children develop a healthy relationship with credit, and understand financial literacy by the time they graduate.

While this guide is a great resource for everyone, it can be particularly useful for parents who don't feel qualified to teach their children credit-related concepts – whether that feeling comes from personal struggles with debt, a lack of aptitude for grasping difficult financial concepts, or a simple lack of education on these subjects. Regardless of a parent's relationship with credit, there's a lot they can and should teach their children.

Just because children aren't going to be directly interacting with personal credit or financial products until they graduate high school, doesn't mean that parents have to wait until then to prepare for their child's credit future. Young children can be helped to form sound financial habits, and as they get older, they can be educated about increasingly complex credit-related concepts.

This guide will help parents understand how to promote positive credit awareness and responsible financial habits throughout a child's development. Important concepts and behaviors will be highlighted, and examples of activities and additional resources will be given to use in four critical stages of development.

The four stages of development used in this guide are:

- Preschool and Early Elementary (Ages 4-6)
- Elementary (Ages 7-10)
- Middle School and Jr. High (Ages 11-13)
- High School (Ages 14-18)

Overall, this guide identifies four primary ways for parents to prepare for their children's credit future:

- Habit Forming: Helping children to form solid financial habits
- Education: Ensuring that children understand critical concepts regarding credit and debt before graduation
- Fraud Protection: Protecting children by teaching them to avoid identity theft through proper handling of personal information and how to steer clear of financial frauds
- Credit Building: Developing a plan to establish credit history for children before they graduate

Guide to Securing Your College Student's Credit Future

College students don't always have a healthy relationship with credit. For instance, Stephen Swift (managing attorney for Southern Colorado Bankruptcy Law Firm) relates that bankruptcy attorneys are "seeing younger and younger clients who are seeking bankruptcy protection because they got in over their heads with credit cards." Unfortunately, credit cards aren't the only concern for students – in 2015, the average college student graduated with $30,100 in student loan debt; in 2016, 11.2 percent of student loan debt was in default or delinquent by 90+ days. Even more, the student loan situation is getting worse, not better. In 2005, the average student loan payment was $227 (when adjusted for inflation) – 10 years later, the average payment was 50 percent higher ($351).

A recent study conducted by Sallie Mae highlighted some concerning statistics regarding the behavior and understanding of college students as it relates to credit cards.

- 35 percent of students use their credit cards "sometimes" or "regularly" to make purchases that they don't have the money to pay off.
- Older students (21 to 24 year-olds) have an average balance of over $1,000 on their credit cards.
- Only 31% of college students demonstrated that they have a working knowledge of basic credit-related concepts. Only a slim percentage could answer all three questions that relate to interest accumulation, the effect that payment behavior has on the cost of credit, and the effect that the repayment term has on the cost of credit.

Where Parents Fit In:

Some parents may assume that their students will learn proper credit habits and financial behavior in college, but that assumption may not be correct. In fact, 71 percent of college students say they learned money management from their parents, and the percentage is higher (81%) for younger students. Only 12 percent indicated that they learned about financial management from a college course.

Overall, parents should help their students find the balance between misusing credit and staying away from it all together. No parent wants their students to graduate with a ton of debt that will haunt them for years to come. To help avoid this, parents can teach their students to view credit as a tool, and they can help them learn how to use it responsibly. Modeling healthy financial and credit behaviors and setting clear expectations are the best ways for parents to secure their student's credit future.

The Purpose of This Guide

The purpose of this guide is to empower parents to help their college students (or young adults of similar age) transition to the real world by avoiding credit pitfalls and developing solid financial habits that will set them up for success.

Part 1 covers these four aspects of personal finance:

1. Credit Reports and Scores
2. Budgeting
3. Introduction to Investing and Retirement
4. The Dangers of Identity Theft and Scams

We will also describe positive behaviors and habits associated with four types of student credit, and provide parents with the resources they need to assist their students in putting them into practice.

The types of credit that we will discuss in Part 2 are:

1. Credit Cards
2. Student Loans
3. Car Loans
4. Payday Loans

Part 3 provides a guide to getting out of debt for parents to utilize if their students get in over their head. We finish by listing additional resources and teaching materials.

The Best Scholarship Search Platforms of 2017

College is the most expensive it's ever been. With tuition rates rising an average of 3.5% every year, the average undergraduate now finishes their degree with over $37,000 in student debt.

Scholarships are one of the best ways to reduce these growing costs and scholarship search platforms exist to help students find the most relevant ones. These platforms compile large databases of available scholarships and provide filters to allow students to maximize their searches.

Review.com created a guide to review the best scholarship search platforms and instruct students on how to use them effectively to find as many opportunities as possible.

To determine the best scholarship search platforms, they spent over 200 hours researching 17 of the most popular sites across five core metrics including search functionality, scholarship availability, ease of use, application tools, and additional helpful resources.

The best scholarship search platform was Fastweb. They scored the highest out of all 17 platforms because they were the easiest to use, had the most tools, and had among the most available scholarships with the highest dollar amounts. This search engine is best for most students including high school, undergraduate, and graduate.

They also recommend Cappex. This platform scored consistently high in the most important categories of scholarship availability, ease of use, and tools. It is the best and best for students who want to be able to apply for and track the status of a large number of scholarships.

What is covered in the guide:

1. The major challenges students face when searching for scholarships
2. How the right search engine can help students overcome these challenges
3. What students should know before applying for a scholarship
4. The most important features of a great scholarship search platform
5. The best scholarship search platforms of 2017
6. Advice on early preparation to qualify for scholarships
7. Tips on applying for scholarships
8. Our full methodology and scoring process
