ur 2015
r e c i p i ent, Dick McGiness
is a 1965 graduate of Lake City High School
where he played football, basketball and baseball. While at CMU he worked for three years as an equipment manager and was a member of Phi Epsilon Kappa, the Professional Health, Physical Education and

and was a member of Front: Becky Fox (daughter), Dick McGiness, Linda McGiness, Phi Epsilon Kappa, the Professional Health, Brett McGiness (son), Bonnie Kindle (Daugter), Eddie Kindle (son-in-law)

Recreation fraternity where he served as the vice-president in the spring of 1972 and became president in the fall of 1972.

Coach McGiness graduated from CMU in the spring of 1973 with a Bachelor of Science degree, having majored in Physical Education (K-12) and with a minor in health (7-12). Dick has an additional twenty hours of graduate work in Athletic Administration.

McGiness's first job was at the Falmouth Junior High School from April to June 1974 as a permanent substitute. In the fall he started fulltime at Lake City schools. He was an assistant football coach for five years, then went to coach football at Cadillac High School for two years before returning to Lake City as the varsity head coach in 1981. A millage failure in Lake City led to the football program being dropped so he returned to Cadillac for the 1983 and 1984 seasons. He again returned to Lake City as Continued on page 4 the head football coach in 1985 and remained in that position through the 1995 season. In Lake City he had twelve First Team All-State players, four players who played in MHSFCA All-Star Games and won conference championships in 1986 and 1988. Dick was a member of the Detroit Free Press All State Football Board in 1986. He ran a winter and summer weightlifting program for twenty-two years and started the Lake City Junior High Football program in 1986 and the Pop Warner program in 1995. Coach McGiness has worked football camps throughout the state. While at Lake City he also was the boys' basketball head coach for one season - and won a conference title. Dick coached girls track for almost thirty years, winning conference championships six times. He has radio and television experience with both girls and boys basketball on the radio and a weekly sports talk show for the FOX TV station in Cadillac.

In December of 1999, McGiness had a cardiac arrest while exercising on his treadmill. Fortunately, his wife Linda was at home and administered CPR until the medics arrived; no doubt she saved his life. He was in a coma for three days and then began the long process of recovery. In 2001 he received a perseverance award from the Will Return Council in Iowa; he was eventually cleared to return to work and retired in 2004. In addition to coaching, Dick was a class advisor, SADD chapter advisor, Junior High Student Council Advisor, taught alcohol and drug classes to suspended athletes and ran Lift-a-thons to raise money for the new weight room. He also started the Lake City Athletic Boosters Club and served as its vice-president and president. For twenty years he served as Secretary/Treasurer for the Highland Conference.

Coach McGiness has been a member of the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association since 1974 and a long time member of the MHSFCA Board. He has been a Region Director for years and chaired the Assistant Coach of the Year committee from 1990-2013. He has worked on the Regional Coach of the Year award committee for several years, has worked at many All-Star camps throughout and coached in the All-Star game in 1991 where he was severely injured in a sideline collision between players. He was also in charge of the clinic banquet for two years at Battle Creek.

Coach McGiness has been a foot soldier for his school and for the MHSFCA. Like Coach Crowley, he is loved by his former players and their parents. He has taught values, standards and life lessons to his athletes. Like Coach Crowley, he is a family man and his wife of forty-three years, Linda, and his children Brooki, Brandie, Becky and Brett can be very proud of him.

43rd Annual Winners Circle Clinic Features All-Star Agenda of Speakers

he 43rd Annual Michigan High School Football Coaches Association Winners Circle Clinic was held on January 15, 16 and 17th at the Lansing Center in Lansing, Michigan. The Lansing Radisson Hotel was also a focus point hosting our Annual Awards Banquet and Presidents Reception. Each was a wonderful event and the venue provided a great social and recognition of our states top award winners. The Greater Lansing Convention and Visitors Bureau provided excellent service in coordinating and advertising for our event.

The Lansing area has provided our organization a central location, and wonderful facilities to meet our large need. This year we had well over 1400 + in attendance throughout the weekend. Always a popular feature of our clinic, were the dozens of top notch exhibitors showcasing their newest equipment and material for football programs. Our venue also included college tables for coaches to share information about their prospects playing at the next level. The whole clinic environment is dedicated to providing our state's members ease of access to speakers, vendors, college recruiters and most of all fellowship.

This year our speaker lineup included SEVENTY-FIVE speakers. It was one of our largest agendas ever. Each session had nearly nine choices to attend, covering nearly every topic imaginable about our great sport of football. Each session allowed our speakers the flexibility to present and have time at the end for questions. Many times our speakers and their attendees flowed out into the hall continuing discussions and meaningful talks about our game. More importantly connections and friendships were made for future networking.

Thursday evening was loaded with fantastic speakers that included the kickoff with Coach Brian Kelly of Notre Dame. Coach Kelly shared fundamentals of building program of which all were impressed with his organization and leadership skills. Thursday night also included speakers from the MAC like Karl Maslowski of Northern Michigan University, Archie Collins, Butch Barry and Head Coach Dan Enos from Central Michigan University. Brian Callahan and Vince Reynolds of Western Michigan University spoke and Michigan State was represented by Mark Staten. Lou Esposito from Davenport University had an opportunity to share about his new and upcoming program next year as did Tim Driscoll of Finlandia College on Friday. We wish them the best of luck building their new programs. Tim Morrison and Jim Louis of GVSU, Dan Cornely from Defiance College, Matt Koziak of Mona Shores (State Runners-Up), and Josh Heppner of Troy Athens rounded out the evening.

The Friday Morning Kickoff is always one of our cherished events. The day started out with Head Coach Mark Dantonio of Michigan State University arriving to our clinic with one of the greatest victories in Spartan History. Coach PJ Fleck followed and was an instant hit with the Western "Row the Boat." New University of Michigan Head Coach Jim Harbaugh concluded the kickoff package with stories about his childhood that had the 1200 + attendees glued to their seats (and standing) for the packed presentation.

Friday early afternoon continued with even more strong presenters like Scott Wooster of Wayne State University, Kalen Deboer of Eastern Michigan University, Dustin Beurer of Albion College, Matt Boles of Muskegon Big Reds, and Eastern Michigan's Head Coach Chris Creighton. Legend Coach Jack Schugars of Ferris State University shared special teams play; Harlon Barnett (Asst. Head Coach) of Michigan State University discussed defensive packages, and new Offensive Coordinator Tim Drevno of University of Michigan rounded out the session.

Mid-Friday witnessed D.J. Durkin, University of Michigan's new DC, Head Coach Matt Mitchell of GVSU, Brad McCaslin of Eastern Michigan University and Dan Kalbfleisch of New Boston Huron presenting material about the Wing T. Our Friday session included guest coaches from Ohio. Chad Huntebrinker and Greg Dempsey of Toledo Catholic both spoke at different times about the jet sweep and the zone running game. These coaches had a strong attendance and brought great information with them. Rockford's Defensive Coordinator, Randy Vanderveen presented the Rockford Secondary Package, and we even had our MHSAA's Mark Uyl speak on "Making Sense of the Targeting Rule". Each year we have a Legends Panel discuss building and maintaining a strong program. This year we featured John Swartz (Mendon), John Herrington (Farmington Hills Harrison), Peter Stuursma (East Grand Rapids), Eric Smith (Detroit Central High) and Herb Brogan (Jackson Lumen Christi).

Continuing into Friday, late afternoon sessions included Tony Sigmon of Whitehall, John Bonamego, Central Michigan University's new head coach, Corey Parker, of River Rouge, Jeremy Ferman, Almont H.S., Josh Reyburn, Ithaca, Rob Zietman, Ferris State and Bill DeFilippo, Livonia Churchill. Some highlights of Friday afternoon included Adam Szabo, a speed training specialist from Arizona, who spoke about developing speed program wide.

Friday evening featured Eric Jackson who is a college recruiting specialist that spoke about standardized testing and college application process, Head Coach Craig Rundle, Albion, Warren Maloney, Olivet, Dave Lawrence, Strength and Condition Trainer, Ryan Hodges, Ferris State, Head Coach Jim Cole (Retired) Alma College, and John Herstein, Farmington Hills Harrison offensive line coach. Newly hired Special Teams Coach John Baxter of The University of Michigan concluded Friday evening by discussing the finer points of special teams play.

Saturday Morning blended speakers that would attract both high school and youth football coaches. Speakers included Jeff Stewart, Big Rapids, Tom Ruvolo and Yasso Yasso, Sterling Heights, Matt Bird, Grand Ledge, Dan Novak and Derick Smith, Walled Lake Central, Walt Lodes, Northern Rocket Football League President, Scott Farley, Jackson H.S., and Josh Sawicki, Waterford Our Lady Lakes H.S. The Saturday youth program featured Jeffrey Kline AT, ATC, PES of Oakwood Healthcare Sports Medicine whose topic covered "Health and Safety for Youth Athletes". Chris Fritzsching, Detroit Lions Youth Football liaison spoke about "Heads-Up Tackling. Our goal is to continue to build the Saturday Youth Format to attract our states youth programs.

We'll be in Lansing again in January 2016. The Lansing Radisson, Lansing Center and The Lansing Visitors and Convention Bureau provide an excellent central location with some of the finest facilities in the state. The MHSFCA Clinic Committee strives to provide a variety of speakers and expertise to meet the many needs for our members from the collegiate level all the way to our states youth programs. Our Committee thanks you, our members for giving us this opportunity to serve you.

Steve Spicer Leadership Awards

2014 Recipients

From Dave Lawrence, Leadership Chair

The Steve Spicer Memorial Team Leadership Award was inaugurated in 1999 by the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association. The award honors high schools throughout the State of Michigan who exemplify the legacy left to us by Steve Spicer, the former head football at Fowler High School who was an outstanding coach, teacher, husband, father and community leader before his untimely battle with cancer took him from us. Steve, who is a member of our Football Coaches Hall of Fame, had an outstanding coaching recoalong with capturing a state football championship while at Fowler. More importantly however is the fact that he was a great role model for the players he coached and the students he taught.

Escanaba – Head Coach Jim Hansen had his players involved in 11 different service projects throughout the year which included: "Wheeling Sportsmen", a program that assists handicapped citizens hunt and fish during the summer months, visits to assisted living homes to meet and converse with elderly citizens, implemented a reading program at elementary schools within their school district and mentored "at risk" students at Escanaba High School.

Glen Lake - Head Coach Jerry Angers had his players involved with 10 different service projects totaling 485 hours that included: Assisting the Glen Lake Women's Club raise $20,000 for scholarships to graduating seniors, providing labor for a number of elderly citizens maintain their homes through a whole range of odd jobs, and raising $1000.00 to provide 2 local needy families a memorable Christmas.

Romeo High School – Head Coach Curt Rienas had his players involved with 7 different projects totaling 569 hours which included: Raising $48,000 for a cancer charities basketball game, mentoring children at a local summer reading program and serving in a major community book drive.

South Lyon – Head Coach Mark Thomas had his players involved with 4 different service projects that included: A weekly leadership program with players developing their skills as leaders, a Victory Day for special education students in the school district allowing them to have a "game day" football experience, serving regularly at their community food pantry and serving as mentors for special education students at South Lyon High School.

Jim Hansen, Escanaba,

Curt Rienas and Jason Couch, Romeo

Notes

2015 MHFSCA President, Ed Greenman, Harper Creek, presents the president's plaque and ring to outgoing president, Kelly Luplow, Clare. Luplow then presented Greenman with the president's gavel as incoming president.

Thank you Kelly for a great job leading the association in 2014. Greenman will provide leadership for another great year in 2015.

Online Coaching Education Graduate Program

M.S. in Kinesiology-Coaching Behavior Department of Health and Kinesiology Georgia Southern University

We invite you and/or your staff to include the Online Coaching Education Graduate Program at Georgia Southern. The Online Coaching emphasis is designed for experienced coaches seeking to improve their knowledge and skill base as well as for individuals preparing to enter the coaching field. This master's degree does not provide teaching certification; however, it meets Master's degree requirements in Michigan and may qualify for a salary increase. Contact your local Board of Education for your specific situation.

The program offers totally online courses in performance enhancement, coaching administration, athletic training, and coaching effectiveness. The curriculum follows National Coaching Standards for Level 5 Coaching Status (High School, College and Elite Coaches)

With the number of hours spent coaching, it is very difficult to find time to drive to another university's campus. With this online program, you are able to complete your coursework according to your own schedule.

The program starts each May, takes 14 months, is taught by full time GSU Faculty with coaching experience and the approximate total cost is $16,500.

COACHING CURRICULUM
SUMMER 1 A	TEACHING ANALYSIS	PSYCHOLOGY OF PEAK PERFORMANCE
SUMMER 1 B	SPORT COACHING I	TEAM DYNAMICS
FALL 1	INJURY PREVENTION	RESEARCH METHODS FOR COACHES
SPRINC1	SPORTS BIOMECHANICS	SPORTS ADMINISTRATION
SUMMER 2 A	ISSUES IN COACHING	PRACTICUM
SUMMER 2 B	SPORT COACHING II	SPORTS PHYSIOLOGY

We will begin the next cohort in May 2015. We are currently accepting applications and will review applications until April 15. To review the online program and apply for admission use the following:

n February 16, over 300 players and coaches attended the MHSFCA Leadership Conference held at the Radisson Lansing. P.J. Fleck, head football coach at Western Michigan University, started off the conference with a tremendous talk on leadership. Coach Fleck challenged everyone in attendance to "be a leader," something he acknowledged "is not always easy." He emphasized, "It is not always popular to take a leadership roll but the rewards are great for those who step up to the challenge." Coach Fleck pointed out that there the youngest head football coach in Division One football in the country and lead the Broncos to the greatest turnaround in MAC history.

After the opening session, high school coaches adjourned to a room where a discussion, question/answer with Coach Fleck was moderated by Patrick Threet (Fraser HS). During this period, athletes watched the video "When

are any number of ways to become a leader and related experiences in his own life that have led him to become the Game Stands Tall" and in small groups made up of players from different schools, responded to prompts on tonics covered in the video topics covered in the video.

An addition to this year's conference was a presentation on initial eligibility given by Sherraine Pencil from the Compliance Office at Michigan State University. As you know, eligibility, a constantly moving target, is increasingly complicated. (Be sure to watch the Free Recruiting Webinar at MHSFCA.com. The webinar is updated with each change in the rules.)

MHSFCA NEWSLETTER High School Football's Benefits Outweigh the Risks

y son's high school football team finished 1-9 this year, and I wouldn't be prouder of this team if they had gone undefeated.

They made a game of it each Friday night, and while they often were outnumbered and overmatched, they never were outplayed. My son and his teammates have learned more about hard work, sportsmanship and resilience on the football field than anywhere else, and these lessons will make them better men.

But as much as I enjoy the tradition of high school football, I worry about its future.

My son's school has nearly 2,000 students, but his team is lucky to suit up 20 players for a varsity game. There are a lot more young men who want to play, but whose parents won't let them. Their parents think the risk of brain injury outweighs the benefits of playing.

I understand the concerns and share them, but I have concluded those concerns are misplaced. My children are the most important part of my life. I am a widower, and when my son wanted to play football his freshman year, every mom and my in-laws chastised me for considering it. Even President Obama wondered whether he'd let his theoretical son play.

I'm a physician and medical researcher at Stanford, and I only decided to let my son play after reviewing the medical research.

The study that best elucidates the risk of football-related brain injury comes from the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. CDCP officials studied 3,439 former National Football League players with at least five years of pension-credited playing seasons between 1959 and 1988.

This is arguably the highest-risk group of players available for study. Among these players, the incidence of neurodegenerative disease is three times higher than in the general population. However, the risk of death from neurodegenerative disease was relatively low in both groups: 3 percent in NFL players, and 1 percent in the general population. The risk associated with a long NFL career is not insignificant but remains small.

The high-profile research that is regularly cited as connecting the dots between football-related concussions and dementia in NFL players lacks sufficient data to establish a causal link. Most of the cases considered focus on former NFL players involved in a lot of high-risk behavior other than football, and none of these studies included a control group. Research like this is typically filed away as "interesting, but we need better data."

The key here is that high school football is not the NFL. The Mayo Clinic found that the risk of high school football players developing degenerative neurological diseases later in life is no greater than if they had been in the band, glee club or choir.

The data suggests that the normal life of adolescents puts them at risk for brain injury all the time. What would be the alternatives to my son playing football? Sports such as soccer, skiing, rock climbing or lacrosse have similar risk profiles to high school football.

My late wife rode horses competitively growing up. As an anesthesiologist at a hospital that treats more horse-related trauma accidents than any other in the country, I'm glad my son went with football.

I believe the benefits of playing high school football are worth the risks. Football is an equal-opportunity sport. All different types of athletes make up a football team, the skills needed don't require years of practice, and there is no real advantage for kids with private coaches. A healthy, average athlete who shows up to all the team's practice sessions and attends off-season weight training can usually find a spot on the team.

My son's teammates are from the whole socioeconomic and racial spectrum. The only reason that his team was able to make a contest out of each game, despite that they had so few players to work with, is that the boys learned how to build on what they had in common instead of focusing on their differences.

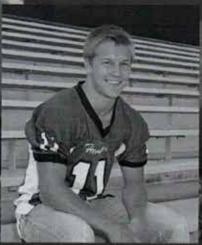

As Jack Kemp, the former pro quarterback and congressman, once said, "The huddle is color-blind." In an increasingly diverse world, opportunities to learn how to work together with a wide range of people who start out on equal footing should not be lightly dismissed.

When I sit in the stands, I worry when my 160-pound son lines up on the front line of the kick return team, but that is only slightly less than I worry when I sit in the passenger seat as he merges onto the highway. Adolescence is a scary time for parents.

To all you parents who are keeping your sons from playing football, I say, "Let them play." They are just as safe on the football field as they are in most of the other sports and activities we regard as a necessary part of a healthy adolescence. You can save money on expensive club sports and specialty coaches, and your sons will develop skills that will serve them and the rest of us well.

DO IT FOR DANIEL

"DO IT FOR DANIEL" IS A DOCUMENTARY ABOUT DANIEL OLSON, AN ALL STATE FOOTBALL PLAYER FROM ISHPEMING IN THE U.P. OF MICHIGAN.
HE SUFFERED HIS WHOLE LIFE WITH DEPRESSION & ANXIETY BUT VERY FEW KNEW. HE TOOK HIS OWN LIFE IN JULY 2012 NOT BECAUSE HE WANTED TO DIE, BUT BECAUSE HE COULDN'T TAKE THE PAIN ANY LONGER. WE ARE MAKING THIS MOVIE TO EDUCATE PEOPLE ABOUT DEPRESSION, ANXIETY, & TAKE THE STIGMA AWAY FROM MENTAL ILLNESS. WE WANT TO SAVE LIVES THROUGH THIS FILM & SHOW PEOPLE, EVEN IN THE DARKEST TIMES, YOU CAN ALWAYS FIND HOPE.

PLEASE HELP US TO GET THIS MOVIE MADE. GO TO OUR WEBSITE www.doitfordaniel.com
GO TO IT TO SEE THE MOVIE TRAILER, OR DONATE TO THE CAUSE. YOU CAN ALSO LEAVE US A MESSAGE IF YOU HAVE ANY OTHER WAYS TO HELP. WE BELIEVE THIS MOVIE WILL NOT ONLY CHANGE LIVES,... BUT SAVE LIVES.

January 26, 2015

Coaches:

As many of you know, Coach Jeff Olson of Ishpeming and his family have been working tirelessly to promote a project that addresses mental illness in our young people. The story of their son, Daniel, is one that resonates with many of us who have had to deal with similar experiences in our own lives. The Michigan High School Football Coaches' Association is working with the Olson family to help get this message out to our young people. They need our help. If each football playing high school in Michigan (700) would pledge just $100 to this cause, we could help our football brother and his family reach their goal of creating this film. Will you stand with us? Below you will find a letter from Coach Olson outlining the project.

This project is to produce a documentary (movie) about Daniel Olson, an All-State football player from Ishpeming, Michigan who suffered from depression and anxiety throughout his junior high and high school years. Daniel was a good student and very popular person with many friends and girlfriends. He had a lot going for him but would say, "If everything is so great, then why do I feel this way?" Daniel took his own life in July 2012 at the age of 19, not because he wanted to die, but because he couldn't take the pain any longer.

The goal of this project is to educate people about depression and anxiety and take the stigma away from mental illness. We want to show that it is a medical illness that is very treatable. We hope it will save lives and show people, even in the darkest times, you can always find hope.

The film will be sent to all Michigan schools with the plan to use it nationwide. The entire project will cost $70,000, of which $5,000 has already been raised. Much of the filming has been completed and these funds will be used to professionally edit the movie and market the film to various film festivals and to get it in the schools. A trailer for the movie can be found at www.doitfordaniel.com.

Please respond to this email pledging your support of this project. The MHSFCA will provide a link for participation in this project. Let's come together as a coaching brotherhood and work to provide our children with the best encouragement, information, and help we can give them!
